Archer Welcomes New Associate

Press Releases

06.20.2022

Archer is pleased to welcome new associate Nicholas Yodock to the firm's Voorhees office. Nicholas represents clients in a variety of transactional and corporate matters in the areas of entertainment and media, intellectual property, cannabis, and technology. Nicholas provides general corporate representation and day-to-day business advice to a broad array of companies, addressing issues that include, among others, business organization, corporate governance, mergers and acquisitions, investments, licensing and regulatory compliance, copyright and trademark registration and licensing, commercial contracts, and film, television, and live music production legal services.

Prior to joining Archer, Nicholas was the principal attorney and owner of YEL – Yodock Entertainment Law, a boutique law firm for emerging artists in music and visual arts and small businesses in a variety of industries. Previously, he was with a Southern California law firm focused on transactional and litigation matters.

For over 10 years, Nicholas served as an Infantry Officer and advanced to the rank of Captain in the United States Army National Guard.
