Doris C. Njoku is an Associate in Archer's Real Estate Tax Appeal Group, where she specializes in the litigation of complex commercial and industrial property tax appeals involving a variety of property types. Doris advises clients on property tax issues, liabilities, and valuation at all stages of prosecution. In addition, Doris assists with condemnation actions and state tax matters.

Prior to joining Archer, Doris served as a judicial law clerk to the Honorable Michael J. Gilmore, J.T.C. of the Tax Court of New Jersey. Doris earned her J.D. from Drexel University, Thomas R. Kline School of Law, where she received the CALI Excellence for the Future Award for Best Student Performance in Legislation and Regulation. Doris served as Staff Editor of the Drexel Law Review (Volume XII), and served as a teaching assistant for the Legislation and Regulation Class. She was a Class Representative with the Student Bar Association, and was a member and treasurer of the Black Law Students Association. Doris is also licensed to practice law in Nigeria.
