

Archer Welcomes New Partner Natasha Songonuga

Press Releases

07.25.2024

Archer is pleased to announce that Natasha M. Songonuga has joined the firm's Bankruptcy Group as a partner in its Delaware office. An accomplished attorney with over 20 years of experience, Natasha represents clients in all types of insolvency and litigation matters.

Natasha brings a wealth of knowledge and a distinguished track record in representing debtors, fiduciaries, creditors and other interests in a wide range of insolvency matters, including Chapter 11 reorganizations and liquidation proceedings. Natasha frequently represents trustees appointed pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code and has acted for trustees pursuant to the Securities Investor Protection Act. Natasha is a Subchapter V Trustee appointed in Delaware under the Small Business Reorganization Act of 2019 (SBRA). She successfully shepherded the first confirmed Subchapter V Chapter 11 plan of reorganization in Delaware.

"We're very excited to add a lawyer of Natasha's caliber to our team," said Steve Packman, chair of Archer's Bankruptcy Group. "We strive to attract the best talent to our practice, and Natasha's background and notable experience in business reorganization and restructuring will add tremendous value to our clients and group."

Natasha has a solid reputation within the industry, holding positions such as Fellow of the American Bar Foundation. She has consistently been ranked by Chambers USA in the top tiers for bankruptcy and restructuring lawyers, and is a frequent author and speaker on topics related to bankruptcy. She earned her J.D., cum laude from Seton Hall University School of Law and her B.S. from Rutgers University.

Natasha joins Archer from Gibbons P.C., where she served as a Director and a member of the Financial Restructuring & Creditors' Rights Group.
