

Sherrill Can Fix NJ's Criminal Justice System. Here's How | Opinion

Articles

12.17.2025

By: Anthony C. Talarico

---

In an opinion piece written for MyCentralJersey.com, partner Anthony C. Talarico examines New Jersey's decade-long experiment with bail reform and transparency in policing. Anthony outlines three areas for reform: improving pretrial release decisions that rely too heavily on algorithms, restructuring the Office of Public Integrity and Accountability, and integrating mental health treatment into the criminal justice system rather than relying on short-term or voluntary diversion programs. Click here to read the complete article.

A member of the firm's Corporate Compliance, Investigations & Criminal Defense Group, Anthony joined Archer bringing over a decade of service as a criminal law prosecutor, most recently serving as Chief Assistant Prosecutor at the Bergen County Prosecutor's Office. As Chief of the Major Crimes Unit, he was responsible for supervising the prosecution and investigation of all homicides, fatal accidents, arsons, strict liability cases, and suspicious deaths in Bergen County, NJ, the State's most populous county.

Related People

Anthony C. Talarico

Partner

✉ atarico@archerlaw.com

☎ 201.498.8541