Overview

Michael has over 30 years of experience spanning law, operations, and business development. A trusted advisor to regional and global executives, Michael combines deep legal experience with strategic business insights to deliver high-value solutions for clients.

With extensive experience in the technology, healthcare, and real estate sectors, Michael was a key member of the management team that grew a privately held global technology company from $70M to $1.1B in revenue. He has also worked with several private equity-backed organizations, leading revenue growth, optimizing operations, and planning and executing successful exit strategies.

Michael advises executives across a range of industries, helping them navigate complex business and legal considerations while driving practical, results-oriented outcomes. He is passionate about building enduring partnerships that create sustainable value for his clients.
