

Data Centers - How to Cut Through the Noise to Get to the Legal Issues

Speaking Engagements & Seminars

09.02.2026

Presented by: Richard T. Wells

The rapid growth of data centers is reshaping the legal landscape, creating new challenges and opportunities across land use, zoning, utilities, environmental regulation and municipal governance. As communities, developers and policymakers navigate competing priorities, attorneys must understand the evolving legal and regulatory framework shaping this expanding industry. Partner Richard Wells will serve as moderator for this timely panel discussion featuring experienced practitioners who will examine the key legal issues surrounding data center development. Attendees will gain valuable insight into the legal and policy considerations shaping this rapidly evolving area of law, along with practical knowledge they can apply in their own practices.

To learn more and register: <https://bit.ly/4fVBBaW>

Date & Time:

Wednesday, September 2

9:00 AM – 12:00 PM

Location:

Online

Related People

Richard T. Wells

Partner

✉ rwells@archerlaw.com

☎ 856.616.2689

Related Services

- Land Use

© 2026 Archer & Greiner, P.C. All rights reserved.

