Steven Mignogna will be presenting a program at the 2026 ACTEC Mid-Atlantic Regional Meeting in Baltimore, Maryland. The session will address important developments in estate litigation that all trust and estate practitioners should understand, including attorneys who do not regularly handle litigation. The program will examine the newest concepts needed to effectively address trust and estate disputes, discuss key strategic considerations for litigators, and address how to identify and avoid common mistakes that can exacerbate disputes and lead to liability.

Steve's program is part of the larger ACTEC three-day gathering of Fellows and guests which covers a wide range of timely topics in estate planning and administration, including inheritance tax planning, planning with Qualified Opportunity Zone investments, asset protection trusts, statutory settlement of trusts, and planning with joint grantor trusts for married couples.
