

Waste & Recycling

Overview

Archer's attorneys are experienced across the waste management and regulation sector. We work with organizations and with producers to manage commercial issues, reporting and compliance. We also work with transportation, treatment and disposal companies on compliance plans and to respond to spills or unauthorized releases. Our attorneys help clients decipher regulations regarding generation, storage, treatment, transport, recycling and disposal of hazardous and non-hazardous waste by analyzing governmental policies, strategies and programs and bringing your environmental compliance assessment up to date. We also assist with environmental emergency measures such as accident prevention policies aimed at reducing risk.

A-901 Compliance and Consulting Services

Archer attorneys have significant experience counseling and representing companies in the solid and hazardous waste industry in all aspects of their business. Clients we represent include, among others, waste transporters and haulers, brokers, and out-of-state based companies who do business in New Jersey. Our services in this area include assisting companies in each phase of the A-901 licensing process, beginning with the acquisition of a company's New Jersey A-901 license, assisting with the CPCN application, handling annual renewals and reporting requirements, and advising on compliance with county and state rules and regulations. We also represent clients in the defense of claims involving alleged failure to obtain required regulatory permission to operate in the solid and hazardous waste industry. In the licensing process, our attorneys also handle the negotiation and review of the resulting contracts and related documents for transportation and disposal situations.
