Jan. 9, 2009

Attorney Carlton L. Johnson has been selected to serve on the Board of Directors of Community Legal Services Inc. (CLS) of Philadelphia, a nonprofit agency providing legal services, advocacy and education for low-income Philadelphians.

With the selection, Johnson also becomes a member of the Board of Directors of Philadelphia Legal Assistance (PLA), a CLS partner organization.

CLS was established by the Philadelphia Bar Association in 1966, and has served more than a million low-income Philadelphia residents through individual cases, class actions, and advocating for improved regulations and laws that affect low-income Philadelphia residents. PLA, a grantee of the federally funded Legal Services Corporation (LCS), provides free civil legal services to Philadelphia's low-income community.

Johnson is a Partner in the Philadelphia office of Archer, P.C., and serves as Co-Chair of the firm's Civil Rights and Government Relations practices. A city resident and former high-ranking member of the city Law Department, he specializes in civil rights and employment law.
