Press Releases

02.27.2009

Attorney Peter L. Frattarelli of the law firm of Archer, P.C., has been asked to travel abroad to speak at the 2009 National Electrical Contractors Association (NECA) Eastern Region Annual Membership Meeting, in the historic section of Rome, Italy.

NECA is the national association of electrical construction contractors, with members in 119 local chapters, providing innovative research, performance standards, progressive labor relations, and workforce recruiting and training. Frattarelli, who is fluent in Italian, will speak on the differences between labor laws in the United States and Italy. The four-day meeting will take place at the Westin Excelsior in Rome.

Frattarelli is a Partner in the Labor and Employment Department of Archer, based in the firm's office in Haddonfield, N.J. He has extensive experience representing management in labor and employment litigation and proceedings, including defending employers against harassment and discrimination lawsuits and administrative claims, negotiating collective bargaining agreements and defending against union grievances. Frattarelli has also written on numerous topics and spoken at legal seminars on a variety of legal topics, focusing in the labor and employment arena. He is admitted to practice in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware.
