Seven second- and third-year law school students are participating in the Summer Associate Program at Archer, P.C., gaining experience working with attorneys, staff and clients of South Jersey's largest law firm.

The seven are working at the Haddonfield office of Archer, which ranks among the Philadelphia region's largest firms, with more than 175 attorneys in seven offices.

The seven summer associates are:

- Ryan J. Tetro of Marlboro, a third-year student at Seton Hall University School of Law.
- Laura DeScioli of Maple Shade, a third-year student at Rutgers University School of Law-Camden.
- Kun Wang of Edison, a third-year student at Seton Hall University School of Law.
- Scott Simpkins of Williamstown, a second-year student at Rutgers University School of Law-Camden.
- Kara Lee Monahan of Haddon Heights, a third-year student at the Rutgers University School of Law-Camden.
- Karen N. Wilson of Long Island, N.Y., a third-year student at Dickinson School of Law at Penn State University.
- Cory A. Thomas of Philadelphia, Pa., a third-year student at Drexel University College of Law.

Each summer associate gets paired with a full-time associate who serves as a mentor, advising the student on research techniques, case preparation and other client matters. The law students also accompany Archer attorneys to observe their participation in proceedings such as real estate closings, mediations, depositions, hearings/trials and client meetings.

Archer's Summer Associate Program also includes social activities to help the law students get to know each other and firm personnel. These include a welcome reception, a Trenton Thunder baseball game, intramural sporting events and a wine tasting, as well as attorney lunches and informal after-work gatherings with associates and partners.

The Summer Associate Program is the most important source of associate hiring at Archer. In order to avoid creating a competitive environment during the summer, the firm bases the number of summer associates hired on the projected associate hiring needs for the fall following graduation. The goal is for each summer associate to succeed and ultimately join Archer as an associate.
