

Edward Kelleher Appointed to Board of Foundation Benefitting Special Needs Children

Press Releases

11.19.2010

Attorney Edward J. Kelleher has been appointed to the Board of Trustees of the Gloucester County Special Services Education Foundation (GCSSEF), which works to enhance educational experiences and increase opportunities for children with special needs in Gloucester County, N.J. A resident of Wenonah, N.J., Mr. Kelleher is a Partner at Archer P.C. in Haddonfield where he began his legal career following his graduation from Rutgers School of Law – Camden in 1997.

The GCSSEF sponsors and supports numerous programs, including teams and individuals competing in the Special Olympics and the Miracle League. The Miracle League plays baseball games at the Field of Dreams, a special baseball field at the Bankbridge Elementary School in Sewell for children with mental and/or physical challenges. The GCSSEF also hosts the annual Gloucester County Autism Walk to raise funds to support programs such as social skills training groups and respite care. These specially designed programs benefit individuals with autism and their families and are administered by the trained professionals at the Bankbridge Developmental Center.

Mr. Kelleher concentrates his practice on commercial litigation in the state and federal courts, including litigating injunction and damages actions relating to: non-compete agreements and other restrictive employment covenants, duty of loyalty, non-disclosure and non-solicitation agreements, inevitable disclosure doctrine, unfair competition, and trade secrets. His extensive and diverse experience also includes matters related to breach of contract, debt collection, the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act, identity theft, consumer fraud, mortgage foreclosure rescue schemes, insurance coverage, landscaping and home improvement contractor issues, equipment leases, commissions, construction liens, and many other types of disputes.
