Mr. Gibson, of West Deptford, N.J., was elected by a unanimous Board vote to a three-year term, Underwood-Memorial President and CEO Eileen K. Cardile informed him in a recent letter.

The Board of Trustees sets policy and guides the operation of Underwood-Memorial, a 305-bed, acute-care, nonprofit hospital serving Gloucester County and parts of Salem and Camden counties. With more than 1,800 employees and a medical staff of approximately 400, Underwood provides a comprehensive array of diagnostic, therapeutic and rehabilitative services with the comfort, convenience and security of a community hospital setting.

"This is an exciting and challenging time for health care institutions and Underwood is well positioned as a leader in community hospital care," Mr. Gibson said. "I look forward to helping this fine institution continue and expand its pivotal role in enhancing well-being and quality of life for the communities it serves."

Mr. Gibson is based in Archer's Haddonfield headquarters and serves as Chair of the firm's Litigation Department as well as its Environmental and Eminent Domain practice groups. He represents major government agencies and serves as local and regional counsel to national corporations. During more than 25 years in practice, Mr. Gibson has successfully litigated and tried a variety of commercial, employment, construction and personal injury cases, including several with hundreds of millions of dollars at stake.
