

Four New Associates Join Archer

Press Releases

01.08.2014

Four new associates have joined Archer P.C., one of the region's largest law firms, with nine offices in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and New York.

Charles J. Dennen, Jordan L. Fischer, Jose M. Sabalbaro and Stephen V. Torok all worked as summer associates at the firm in 2012. They join a variety of practice groups at Archer.

- Charles J. Dennen practices in the firm's Environmental Law Group. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science from Rutgers University-Rutgers College, followed by his law degree, cum laude, from Rutgers University School of Law-Camden. During law school, he received the First Year Legal Writing Award and the Reed Smith Clinical Excellence Award. He also served as Associate Editor of the Rutgers Journal of Law and Public Policy, as a board member for the Hunter Moot Court program, as an intern for Judge Dora L. Irizarry of the federal court in the Eastern District of New York, and as an extern for Judge Renee Marie Bumb in federal court in the District of New Jersey.
- Jordan L. Fischer practices in the Estate and Trust Litigation Group. She obtained her Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Delaware followed by her law degree, summa cum laude, from the Earle Mack School of Law at Drexel University. While attending law school, Ms. Fischer served as Symposium Editor for the Drexel Law Review, served on the board of the International Law and Human Rights Society, interned for Judge Juan R. Sánchez of the federal court in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, and completed a co-op at the International Bridges to Justice in Geneva, Switzerland. Following law school, Jordan completed a clerkship for Vice-President Koen Lenaerts of the Court of Justice of the European Union in Luxembourg, the Union's highest court in matters of European Union law.
- Jose M. Sabalbaro practices in the Commercial Litigation Group. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science and Economics from St. Mary's College of Maryland, followed by his law degree from Temple University Beasley School of Law. He was the three-year recipient of a Faculty Academic Scholarship as well as the recipient of the inaugural Archer Diversity Scholarship, awarded in cooperation with Temple Law School and the City of Philadelphia Law Department. Prior to law school, Jose worked for a large government consulting firm in Washington, D.C.

- Stephen V. Torok practices in the Real Estate Tax Appeal Group, where he concentrates in local property taxation, eminent domain and state tax matters. In addition to working as a summer associate at Archer, he was a junior paralegal at the firm while attending Gettysburg College, where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree, magna cum laude, in History with a minor in Political Science. He earned his law degree from William & Mary School of Law in Williamsburg, Va., where he served as Editor-in-Chief of the William & Mary Bill of Rights Journal and was awarded a Dean's Certificate for service to the law school community.
