

Daniel R. Farino Elected to Board of Directors of Environmental Law Section of NJSBA

Press Releases

06.26.2018

Archer Partner, Daniel R. Farino, was recently elected by peers to serve as a member of the Board of Directors of the New Jersey State Bar Association's (NJSBA) Environmental Law Section. Mr. Farino will serve a three-year term.

Mr. Farino has been a member of the Environmental Law Section since 2015. In his new role on the Board of Directors, he will be responsible for promoting membership, planning educational programs, and spearheading initiatives within the NJSBA.

The Environmental Law Section concentrates on promoting improvement and professionalism in the practice of environmental law, and maintains communication with the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection and the Federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Mr. Farino, who engages in a substantial number of environmental law matters, will serve the Environmental Law Section well. In his practice, he focuses on complex environmental matters, with significant experience in the defense of natural resource damage, toxic tort, product liability, property damage, and personal injury claims. His extensive regulatory law experience includes assisting clients in navigating New Jersey's complex SRRA, TRSR, and ISRA regulations and obligations.

Mr. Farino is a frequent author and presenter on a variety of topics related to environmental law and toxic tort litigation. For the past two years, Mr. Farino has been named as one of the Rising Stars for Environmental Law in New Jersey Monthly Magazine's Top Attorneys Listing.
