The African American Chamber of Commerce of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware recently honored Archer with its Corporate Advocate of the Year Award at its Annual Meeting and Awards Ceremony. Held on May 2nd at Vie in Philadelphia, the annual meeting is the Chamber's largest fundraiser of the year. Archer was recognized for the firm's dedication to serving the membership of the African American Chamber of Commerce, its dedication to economically empowering and sustaining Philadelphia's business communities, and for striving to ensure that diversity is woven into the fabric of the law firm.

Archer has been proudly serving the Philadelphia business community for 90 years, including a commitment to the growth, development and success of the businesses among the Chamber's membership. Archer's attorneys are involved in many civic and charitable activities throughout the Philadelphia area, and the firm's partnership with the African American Chamber of Commerce has provided a great opportunity to serve as advocates and provide leadership to many businesses in the Philadelphia region.

Archer is committed to maintaining and promoting diversity within the firm, and in the legal profession generally. Archer's commitment to diversity is put into practice through a variety of initiatives. Through these initiatives and the firm's overarching emphasis on diversity, Archer is proud to be a leader in the effort to enhance diversity and inclusion in the legal profession, and to be a firm where diverse backgrounds and points of view are considered an important asset.

Archer's commitment to diversity is featured in the Chamber's video, "Archer Named Corporate Advocate of the Year."
