

Matthew Conley Discusses a Recent Decision on NRD from the Pennsylvania Commonwealth Court in Legal Intelligencer Article

Articles

07.22.2022

Matthew Conley, Environmental Law partner, discusses a recent decision from the Pennsylvania Commonwealth Court addressing Pennsylvania's authority and standing to seek NRD, which may further embolden state officials, in The Legal Intelligencer article, "Pa. Steps Up NRD Enforcement. Is a Comprehensive NRD Program Coming?," published on July 20, 2022. Matthew writes that the regulated community and environmental practitioners should be aware of the commonwealth's rapidly evolving positions with respect to NRD, and that companies should work with experienced NRD practitioners to understand and manage potential liabilities. Matthew concentrates his practice on complex environmental, toxic tort and products liability litigation and has particular expertise in the area of natural resource damages."

Related People

Matthew Conley

Partner

✉ mconley@archerlaw.com

☎ 856.673.3901