Speaking Engagements & Seminars

04.11.2014

Location: Hasbrouck Heights, N.J.

Jeffrey M. Gradone, a Partner with Archer, P.C. in Princeton, N.J., will speak at the Annual New Jersey Seminar of the Society of Professional Assessors on Friday, April 11, 2014 at the Holiday Inn in Hasbrouck Heights, N.J.

This all-day seminar will cover a range of topics including, Recent Developments from the Tax Courts, and Grappling with Net Leased Properties. Mr. Gradone's session, Assessment of Personal vs. Real Property and Intangible Assets, will touch on property tax assessment and valuation issues for casinos and solar energy facilities.

Mr. Gradone concentrates his practice in the areas of local property taxation and eminent domain proceedings. A former clerk for Judge Harold A. Kuskin of the New Jersey Tax Court, Mr. Gradone prosecutes complex property tax appeals in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and other Mid-Atlantic and New England states. He advises clients regarding property tax issues and liabilities, and pursues property tax exemptions, abatements and other incentives for real estate development projects. Mr. Gradone also handles a variety of complex condemnation matters on behalf of property owners and lenders.
