

Jeffrey M. Gradone to Serve as Moderator and Speaker at Upcoming Corporate Tax Symposium

Speaking Engagements & Seminars

07.27.2015

Location: New Brunswick, NJ

Jeffrey M. Gradone, a Partner in Archer's Princeton office, will serve as a moderator and speaker at the upcoming Corporate Tax Symposium CLE, "Recent Developments in Corporate Taxation" on July 27. This all-day program goes beyond the basics and features the top headlines and issues important to your practice.

Mr. Gradone's topic, "Indirect Taxes - Property Taxes, Sales & Use", is one of eight topics that will be covered throughout the day.

Mr. Gradone concentrates his practice in the areas of local property taxation and eminent domain proceedings. A former clerk for Judge Harold A. Kuskin of the New Jersey Tax Court, Mr. Gradone prosecutes complex property tax appeals in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and other Mid-Atlantic and New England states. He advises clients regarding property tax issues and liabilities, and pursues property tax exemptions, abatements, and other incentives for real estate development projects. Mr. Gradone also handles a variety of complex condemnation matters on behalf of property owners and lenders.
