Guide Your Clients Through the Best Solution for Their Situation

Not for the faint of heart, this fast-paced course is designed to provide a comprehensive procedural orientation to the foreclosure process and alternatives to foreclosure. Expert faculty will identify all of the options available for loan defaults and guide you through their mechanics – from forbearance agreements and loan modifications to short sales and the foreclosure process itself. Along with this engaging seminar, you'll receive a reference manual filled with in-depth, detailed information on each of the options discussed, so you can dig into specific laws as you need them. Get the most bang for your buck - enroll today!

- Learn what loss mitigation solutions are available in residential situations and how to put them in place for your clients.
- Walk through the foreclosure process and sale to avoid legal missteps when you're guiding clients through them.
- Ensure your forbearance agreements include crucial provisions to protect collateral.
- Be prepared to handle the entire short sale process.
- Understand the lender liability surrounding loss mitigation options.
- Maintain an ethical practice by understanding what conflicts of interest may exist when dealing with troubled real estate loans.
