This presentation will review those changes, including a resurgent focus on employer immigration compliance, and provide best practices for developing a sound employer immigration strategy and compliance program.

The Future of Marijuana and Drug Testing in the Workplace Laura Link, Esquire

New Jersey is poised to legalize marijuana in 2017, raising a host of issues for employers already concerned with workers abusing alcohol, legal and illegal drugs. This presentation will review the anticipated legalized marijuana law and also provide an up-to-date summary of employers' rights to conduct drug testing in the workplace.

Employee Personal and Privacy Rights David A. Rapuano, Esquire

Employers on a daily basis face challenging issues as to what personal rights employees may have in the workplace, from privacy rights to even the First Amendment -- rights that have become even more complex in the age of social media. This presentation will provide an overview of what rights employees have - and don't have - and offer advice on the best way to handle those issues and protect your business.

Whistleblower and Retaliation Claims Steven B. Harz, Esquire

Employers regularly take steps to avoid harassment, discrimination, disability and other employment-based claims, but often overlook more subtle claims of retaliation against those workers who lodge complaints. This presentation will explain the basics of whistleblower and retaliation lawsuits and summarize what employers need to do to avoid these troublesome claims.
