What: The COVID-19 Pandemic and Foreign Workers: An Essential Update on Consular Reopenings, Travel Restrictions and More

Speakers: Tanneika Minott, Esq. and Ashley Q. Rotchford, Esq.

Overview: The COVID-19 pandemic has had a massive impact on employers' ability to bring foreign workers to the United States. The travel restrictions, some in place since March 2020, have also created additional hurdles on entry. As the pandemic starts to alleviate, many employers and foreign nationals are looking to obtain consular appointments, travel home for the first time in almost two years, and enter the United States after a long wait. But is it possible? Join Archer's Immigration Team as we explore the most pressing, and recent, updates as they relate to if, and how, an employer can bring their foreign workforce to the United States.
