The law firm of Archer has been selected by The Chemistry Council of New Jersey (CCNJ) to receive the 2016 Chairman's Award-Associate Member. The CCNJ presents the Chairman's Award to an Associate Member firm that has demonstrated a willingness to assist the Council's members through their leadership, participation, and support throughout the year.

In selecting Archer for the award, the Council's Executive Committee wanted to honor the Firm and its attorneys for their continuous complement to CCNJ's activities. In the last three years as an associated member, Archer has demonstrated its commitment to CCNJ and the membership through regular participation as a major sponsor of CCNJ events, and in providing experts to present a variety of topics at Committee meetings, workshops and the Spring Conference. The CCNJ is the advocate and voice in New Jersey for the business of chemistry and member companies, all of whom are committed to a better quality of life through science.
