Bill Caruso recently appeared on NJTV's nightly news program NJ Spotlight News. Bill was interviewed as part of a news report discussing Delta-8, a THC compound, and why NJ lawmakers are hurrying to ban Delta-8 products. Delta-8 is unregulated and can be purchased at gas stations and convenience stores, prompting concerns about its accessibility to children. Delta-8 is a psychoactive chemical that can produce a high, but doesn't give the same effects as cannabis products derived from Delta-9, which is regulated.
