Overview

When structuring venture capital investments, proficiency is the key driver of success. Our attorneys have extensive experience representing both issuers raising venture capital financing, as well as venture capital investors. Each deal is actively managed so as to quickly identify and creatively overcome potential obstacles and get the deal completed in a timely manner.

Our Business Counseling Group advises participants on all sides of the venture capital deal table. We regularly work with emerging growth companies across industry sectors in seed and early stage financings, as well as seasoned companies raising late-stage venture financing. On the investor side, our clients include angel investors, venture capital and private equity funds, corporate venture capital, family offices, and other strategic and financial investors.

Our attorneys bring together comprehensive knowledge of venture capital structures and intimate familiarity with “market” terms to provide our clients with a sophisticated yet practical level of service that enables them to effectively achieve their financing and investing objectives.
