

International Data Privacy

Overview

We assist clients in understanding international data obligations and meeting data protection requirements in a variety of jurisdictions, including the forthcoming General Data Protection Regulation in the European Union and the EU-US Privacy Shield. We provide guidance to help identify the best approach to protecting, processing and transferring data and developing a data management program to be compliant with international obligations. Our group advises clients in cross-border discovery, including obtaining evidence located abroad and addressing evidence requests from parties to a foreign or international proceeding.
