

Project Development & Finance

Overview

Helping clients develop and finance successful projects requires significant legal expertise combined with a thorough understanding of the energy industry, including market dynamics, tax structures, regulatory environments, and investor and lender sensitivities. Our team is comprised of attorneys with extensive experience in the numerous legal disciplines that shape energy projects.

Our attorneys help clients navigate virtually all legal aspects of their businesses, including:

- Turn-key project development and redevelopment design
- Structuring
- Financing
- Implementation
- Regulatory advice
- Tax matters
- Environmental permitting
- Litigation/dispute resolution
- Debt restructures and insolvencies on both the debtor and creditor sides

We routinely work with energy companies, utilities, municipalities, project sponsors and developers, banks and institutional investors, private debt and capital providers, insurance companies and other energy industry participants on a wide range of energy project transactions.
